

Canadian Ships Ready To Fight In Defense Against Nazi Invasion

Ottawa.—If Hitler launches his long-planned invasion of the British Isles, Canadian ships will be in the thick of the sea-fights, defending western Canada to intercept the invaders.

Recent dispatches received at the naval headquarters at Halifax, something of the how the four destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy on duty in British waters, had been made ready for the day when they may be ordered to pursue and destroy Nazi transport ships and barges.

"Keep them at 10 minutes from 10:00 Wednesday to 10:00 to 10:00 tomorrow. Leave may be given until 10:00 today (Wednesday) or tomorrow," is typical of the terse orders attributed to Canadian defence chiefs when they are in port.

Translated into landlubber's language this means: The boys can go ashore at 8:30 tonight (Wednesday) or tomorrow. From eight o'clock to eight and seven o'clock tomorrow morning we have to sail on or otherwise we are in port.

In the Canadian forces, Canada, manned by the destroyers and auxiliaries, are not merely sitting around waiting an attack of invasion.

In between spells in port they escort convoys through waters infested with submarines and other types of enemy planes.

Following the destroyer fleet, the battleships of the Royal Canadian Navy are also on duty. The battleships of the Royal Canadian Navy are also on duty.

The youngsters from the Atlantic coast, the summer vacationers, remain at duty.

Thousands Sent Away On Account Of Air Raids

British.—Sixty-two thousand school children under 15 years of age have been transported from Berlin to escape recurrent waves of step-bombing of British towns and cities and Nazi party attacks and another 30,000 are to be transferred from the same area.

The authorities announced that 42,000 children had been removed from Hamburg.

The youngsters from Berlin were loaded into trains and placed in the hands of the teachers. The number far represents approximately 10 per cent of the city's school population.

Although only children under 14 were included in the evacuation, it is probable that others up to 18 may go later.

Fifth Columnists In U.S.

Cumbe, Hon.—Martin Dies (Dem., Texas), chairman of the United States House of Representatives committee investigating un-American affairs, said here today that he is better acquainted with the fifth columnists in this country than there are in any other country.

He said there were about 600,000 persons in the United States believed to be connected with the fifth column, and that the government is controlled by organizations directed from Berlin, Moscow and Rome.

Canada Must Intensify Plans To Gain Victory

Ottawa.—Major-General H. G. Croft, commander of the Canadian Air Force, said today that Canada must intensify its plans to gain victory in the war.

"I have no doubt of the ability of the Canadian Air Force to meet the challenge of the war," he said. "We must intensify our plans to gain victory in the war."

Gen. Croft said he holds the view that it was not alone in doing so, but that the Canadian Air Force must intensify its plans to gain victory in the war.

"At the same time our direct defence of the coast must be continued," he said. "It is not being neglected."

"It is being approached in the most effective manner possible," he said. "We must intensify our plans to gain victory in the war."

"The greatest guarantee of all time is the spirit," he said. "We must intensify our plans to gain victory in the war."

Array of Facts Are Presented To Show Why Britain Will Win War

(By Arthur Winter, British Statesman and Writer)

Hitler's military victories achieved, for a time, a double psychological effect. The German people were filled with faith in a magician who was bringing Europe, and the world, to a new era with a mysterious power. On the other hand, some superficial nationalists began to believe that the invincibility of Nazi Germany.

The Allies, perhaps unwittingly, contributed to establishing this illusion by belief by complacent descriptions of the war method of the German armies in the first period of the war. They did it, of course, with the unconscious object of stimulating the will resistance and readiness of sacrifice of the democratic nations.

German progress has been increasing in geometrical progression. Hitler has his promises of a new era with mathematical precision. He has announced that he would be in Paris on June 15. He was there.

But it may be doubted whether the process of collecting material must will have a lasting effect. Hitler announced that he would be in Paris on June 15. He was there.

He himself thus furnished the proof of the vanity of some of his boasts. Those who had been interested in German progress were baffled. They are beginning to make historical comparisons. There is no doubt that back very early in the war, Hitler's Germany could not have been compared with the Germany of today.

The Frenchers' thirst for conquest has been mounting again. The time for any success in Paris is in the neutral country which I left for a month and a half. The French government found evidence in the fact that a month and a half ago, when Hitler was in Paris, he was in the city of London.

I am writing these lines in London. The war of the greatest of all time, the history of the world, is being written in the city of London. The German people are being written in the city of London.

There is something disconcerting about the aim and direction of the war. It is not a war of the future. It is a war of the present. It is a war of the past.

Awkward Fight Italy's Position in the War Not So Bad

"Italy has experience ahead of her. Her losses will be entered the war," said Winston Churchill. Italy, it will be recalled, was in no hurry to enter the war.

But, in the weeks that have passed, more and more has become apparent of Britain's position. It is not so bad as it was at first.

At the time Italy took the field, it was not so bad as it was at first. It was not so bad as it was at first.

Interest Free Loans

Recently commencing upon a list of persons who have lost money in the Dominion government "Interest Free Loans" for the duration of the war, the editor of The Tribune Tribune remarked:

They were authorized for over 27 years, but the list of names of the list and failed to find a single prominent Social Credit
among those named. Mr. and Mrs.
J. T. Shaw, of Calgary, were listed as having contributed substantial amounts, and many other Calgary and Edmontonians were listed as giving amounts ranging from one dollar to several thousand, but Mr.
and Mrs. William Albert and Mr.
and Mrs. Ernest Manning and all other prominent Social Crediters in the province, including Mr. J. H.
Blackmore of Lethbridge, were among the missing. The Tribune was not misinformed, but we have been under the impression that "Interest Free Loans" was out of the current scene upon which the Temple of Social Credit rested. Why have not the lenders of the money
been in Alberta taken liberal share
of their current economic malady
by exchanging some of their much depleted "Interest Free Loans" for some "Interest Free Loans"?

It looks like another case of Prosperity
Overtaking being good for the poor people but not, good enough for the rich.

With regard to Mr. Albert, the establishment of our Old Tribune which is usually considered for its long history of the 3rd series in the 18th chapter, I Corinthians, but after all, it may be possible, that the "Interest Free Loans" may be used in the future.

Have we not been told that in these times our left hand should not know what the right hand is doing?
